LONGING FOR HOME

Students at Military Camp Closing Their Five Weeks' Work.

Without War between the Reds and the Blues Called Off and Practiced on Rifle Range in Progress.

The bloodless combat between the Reds and the Blues which has covered so much Vermont territory is now called off on the fifth day, and the work of the students' military camp is winding up. The students' march from Jericho Center to Fort Ethan Allen yesterday morning, and are now encamped on the State reservation. This morning the work on the rifle range will be completed, and about noon the students will begin to break camp. Most of the students have been very profitable, but are now bent on getting home as soon as possible.

The Blues, composed of the student battalion and a rear guard of eight troopers under Lieutenant Radsoff, made an orderly withdrawal from Jericho Center yesterday, since the enemy's forces were too strong to let them push further or to hold the ground already gained. In addition to the troopers, the rear guard was at first Company A and later Company C. They successfully fought back the Red cavalry and on two occasions made both the Red cavalry and infantry halt and deploy. At Essex Center the war was called off, and the students hastened to the Fort Ethan Allen range, where they tried to finish up the rapid fire shooting yesterday afternoon. Failing in this, it was decided to complete the rapid fire shooting at 100 yards with an early start on the range this morning. The student battalion will then march into its camp at Burlington.

This afternoon, and evening and tomorrow morning will be devoted to the return of equipment, financial settlement, and other details of camp closing. The students mess will close with the noon meal tomorrow.

The camp has given the men much theoretical and practical instruction in military science. The problems and the practice march have furnished many object lessons. All of the men show physical improvement, and both the fat and the thin have shown a tendency to approach normal weight. The social side of the camp has also been important. The camp fires on the march were memorable occasions. The acquaintanceship of the students with army officers and men has been of great value to the students.

A state of war existed between the Red and Blue camps on Tuesday night. It was finally called off at 9:30 p. m. for the night. During the early part of the evening the Red cavalry had a narrow escape from being humbled by having their troop position stolen by a student. He crept into the hostile camp during the evening post-outposts, and under cover of the excitement which was furnished by a volley from a hill on the other side of the camp, the student was lifted from its station in front of Captain King's tent. But the student would not let the Red cavalry have the honor of his capture. He stumbled, however, with a strong sprint, recaptured it.

Company G, Fifth Infantry, in command of Captain Merck B. Stewart, the only war strength company in the army, returned to Plattsburgh yesterday after taking part in the maneuvers as Reds, opposing the students. The company were wide white bands on their hats during the war, so they could be recognized as the enemy.

The camp has been notably free from sickness. The men stood the march well, with few ailments and no straggling. It is to be hoped that if the hospital staff will be able to make a complete physical examination of the men, as was once planned.

The University of Vermont Cycle will soon publish a summer number, illustrated, summarizing the work of the camp. The paper is mailed to those who send in advance orders.

Adjutant General is engaged in getting out an illustrated souvenir book of the camp.

GOT HORSE AND WAGON.

Man Who Stole Them Supposed to Be in Canada.

George S. Hicks returned last evening on the boat with the horse and buggy which were stolen from his place by a young man Sunday, the rig having been recovered at Rouses Point, N. Y., where it was sold. The thief, who is supposed to be Hiram Aldrich, a young farm hand employed in Colchester during the present summer, has not been arrested and the chances are that he is in Canada. The horse had been badly used and was in good condition, although there was evidence that it had been driven hard.

It seems that Aldrich first put in an appearance in Champlain, N. Y., and later he tried to sell it at Rouses Point. He was unsuccessful and returned to Champlain where his actions aroused suspicion and he was arrested. The authorities held him four hours and questioned him but he stoutly maintained that the rig was his and that they had no right to hold him. He was finally released and later he sold the rig out of fit to a baker in Rouses Point named White, who gave $5 for the same. Aldrich then hung around the place for a time and finally hired an automobile to take him to Lacolle, Canada, for which he paid $10. The man who drove him there returned home and that was the last seen of Aldrich. It is said that he has gone to St. John's which will remove all chance, if true, of the authorities in Burlington catching him. This is the first successful theft of a horse and wagon from a Burlington stable reported in a long time.

ARREST SAUSAGE MAKER.

Said to Have Dealt in Meat Unit for Human Use.

The police arrested yesterday afternoon a man named John Popowicz, a sausage maker on North avenue, on the charge of dealing in meat unfit for human consumption. This is the first arrest in this city for some time for a like charge. At the meeting of the board of aldermen Monday night the milk and food inspector called attention to the fact that a lot of bad meat was being offered for sale in the city and he said that undoubtedly much of that was infected has found its way into bologna, frankfurters, etc. The inspector called attention to the fact that cows infected with tuberculosis were frequently killed and cleaned up after butchering and the infection concealed in such a way that it would prevent discovery except by an expert. The charges against Popowicz, as drawn by the State's attorney, are that on July 14 he kept with intent to sell for food purposes the flesh of an animal which died or was killed when diseased. Another charge against him alleges that on July 9 he unlawfully sold and offered for sale a quantity of diseased, putrid and unwholesome meat to be used for food by man or domestic animals.

Popowicz formerly lived in St. Albans and has been up against similar charges before. He admitted when arrested that he was fined three years ago in St. Albans the sum of $300 in a case brought against him by the government inspector.

MAY NOT RECOVER.

C. F. McDonald in Serious Condition at Hospital Following a Fall.

Serious doubts are entertained as to the recovery of Colin F. McDonald, who was injured Friday evening at the foot of Main street by being thrown from a wagon. He was taken to the Mary Fletcher hospital at the time in an unconscious condition, but he later rallied, and told the hospital people his name, and his residence which is in Granville in this state. The physicians ascertained at the time that the man had broken his collar bone by the accident. Sunday, however, he showed symptoms of suffering from something else. It has been learned that he has a brother living in Granville and he was summoned. McDonald was injured Sunday evening when he was riding on a carter's wagon from the Champlain Transportation Co.'s wharf to the railway station, his baggage being transferred from boat to train. He was sitting on a trunk when he tumbled and fell to the street, striking on his head, the force of the fall making him unconscious. McDonald is 35 years of age. His occupation is that of tax sharpener in the shed of Boutwell, Milne & Varnum at Granville.

SKIDDED INTO POLE.

Automobile with Three Passengers and Much House Wrecked.

An automobile, owned and driven by Frank Callahan of Bristol and containing two passengers besides Mr. Callahan, came to grief about 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon on lower Pine street near Park avenue when it skidded into a telephone pole, throwing out all the people and wrecking the machine. One of the passengers was taken to the Mary Fletcher hospital. According to all reports the car was not moving slowly but quite the reverse, and the police placed Callahan under arrest for careless driving.

With Callahan were Peter Austin and Ezra Tucker of Vergennes. They had been in Burlington a few hours and were on their way home, going out of the city by way of Pine street and Park avenue. Park avenue says the auto skidded near its leaving the highway. Skid or no skid, it went crashing into a telephone pole and all three men went into the road. Callahan escaped without injury; Austin received a scalp wound and hurt his arm. He was also knocked out by the force with which he struck the high-way but he soon recovered. Tucker, however, seemed to be quite badly hurt, and on the advice of physicians, who were summoned to the scene, he was taken to the Mary Fletcher hospital in the police ambulance, which was called to the wreck. Word from the hospital last evening was that Tucker had hurt his back and had not been seriously injured but just now seriously he was injured had not been ascertained. The car, which will need a lot of repair work to put it back where it was before the collision, was taken to the Van Ness garage.

As it was reported that the car had been going at an excessive rate of speed, Callahan was placed under arrest on a charge of reckless driving. He was taken to the police office and then taken to court, where he was placed under bail by Clerk J. P. Ladd and allowed to go on his own recognizance. His case was continued until ten o'clock this morning.

Among other incidents of the affair was the partial demolition of a small cargo of liquor. A bag of bottled beer aboard the automobile was smashed, but twelve quarts of whiskey, a quart of wine and a half pint of whiskey escaped damage. The liquor was taken to the police office to remain until called for.

LOOKING FOR MONEY.

Street Department's Appropriation Exhausted Long before Year is Up.

The president of the board of aldermen, A. S. Drew, has appointed Aldermen Buell, Dion and Reynolds a committee to consider the financial situation of the street department, the committee having been authorized at a meeting of the board Monday night at the suggestion of Mayor Burke. This committee will not conduct an "investigation," as there is nothing out of the way reported, but will look into the situation and endeavor to find some means of relief for the department which has overdrawn its appropriation. The department began the year with an overdraft from 1913 and then has been drawn upon so rapidly that the amount has been practically reduced to nothing at the beginning of August. There has been a large amount of work done and many sidewalks have been ordered, the assessments on which will not be paid until later. It has formerly been the custom of the city to allow the draft in the department during the year with the view of the same being overcome later but the matter has been brought to a crisis this year by the city treasurer refusing to honor any demands for money from the department after the regular appropriation is exhausted. As it is apparent that the street department must go on with its work, the committee named will consider some means of relieving the situation.

She was at Dr. Strong's sanitarium in Saratoga for some time suffering with what was found to be cancer, and for nearly a year she had been ill at her cousin's home in Rutland.
